

CitedIn finds where you are cited! Some of your papers may have been mentioned where you didn't expect that to happen: in blogs, databases, Wikipedia. CitedIn finds them all. Through this website you can track various resources citing a PubMed Identifier. To find a pubmed identifier use this search form.

Examples: Pubmed query: (e.g. Waagmeester, Kelder, Evelo, or WikiPathways) or Pubmed identifier: (15489334, 18651794)

20485427

Cited In...

Publication search powered by Pubmed
 CitedIn is best viewed with Chrome or Firefox. Bug reports and feature requests are welcome

20485427

THOUSANDS OF CHEMICAL STARTING POINTS FOR ANTIMALARIAL LEAD IDENTIFICATION.

FJ Gamo et al.

Nature

(2010)

ChEMBL

94671

Details

Citeulike

10

Details

Pubmed Subsets

2

Details

Connotea

2

Details

Wikipedia

1

Details

Google Blogs

1

Details

Mendelev

1

Details

Nature.com Blogs

1

Details

HNF4: data from the Sladek lab at UC Riverside

0