Can We Increase Smokers’ Adherence to Nicotine Replacement Therapy and Does This Help Them Quit?

Psychopharmacology

Tanya R. Schlam, Jessica W. Cook, Timothy B. Baker, Todd Hayes-Birchler, Daniel M. Bolt, Stevens S. Smith, Michael C. Fiore, & Megan E. Piper

Tanya R. Schlam, Center for Tobacco Research and Intervention, Department of Medicine, School of Medicine and Public Health, University of Wisconsin-Madison, trschlam@ctri.wisc.edu
Fig 1 Maintenance Counseling X Medication Adherence Counseling (MAC) X Electronic Monitoring (e-Monitoring) with Counseling interacted in predicting abstinence at 26 weeks after the target quit day