Supplemental Fig. 1 Buffering capacities of cortical (A) and cerebellar (B) samples of hooded seal (grey, N=3), ferret (black, N=3) and mouse (white, N=3). Data are expressed in means of µmol NaOH added to change one pH unit per gram tissue. Error bars represent standard deviations. Statistical significance was indicated by one-way ANOVA and Tukey’s multiple comparison test; different letters indicate statistically significant differences.