• Echinacea significantly prevents recurrences of respiratory tract infections.
• Echinacea reduces the risk of complications such as pneumonia.
• Differences in effect size exist between different echinacea preparations.
• Effects are strongest in susceptible subjects and those with immunological weakness.
• Antiviral and immune-modulatory effects of echinacea could explain the clinical benefits.