The graph shows the number of fertile eggs (eggs) over generations. The y-axis represents the number of fertile eggs, ranging from 0 to 5. The x-axis represents the generation number, from G1 to G13. Two lines are plotted: (G) and (P), indicating different sets of data. The graph illustrates an increasing trend in the number of fertile eggs as the generation number increases.