The chart shows the amount of calculations over different time ranges in milliseconds. The x-axis represents the time range in milliseconds, while the y-axis represents the amount of calculations.

The chart has distinct bars for different time ranges, such as [8-9], [10,11], [12,13], and so on, with varying heights indicating the number of calculations.