The bar chart shows the precision values. The highest precision value is represented by the red bar, followed by the blue bar, and then the gray bar.