The diagrams illustrate the memory requirement and CPU time as functions of the length of RNA, $N$, for different algorithms—standard CYK and divide/conquer. The memory requirement and CPU time increase with $N$, with the divide/conquer algorithm showing a faster growth rate compared to the standard CYK.