Amino acid sequence → Protein secondary structure prediction → Computation of helix-strand-loop composition for the predicted structure → General training set

Initial set of parameters

Updated set of parameters

Selection of sequences with similar structural composition into training set