Figure (a) shows the plasma carotenoid concentration (µg ml⁻¹) over the months of January, March, and April, comparing low and high conditions. The data is represented with a box plot and mean values.

Figure (b) displays the body mass (g) from November to April, with low and high conditions indicated by different symbols and error bars.