Figure S1 The figure shows distribution of 88404 edges between species representing pairwise similarities. The x-axis shows the size of overlap as number of common annotation terms, the y-axis shows the size of the overlap as fraction of maximum possible overlap between the two species. The lines at x=10 and y=0.3 represents the cut-off values used for generating the graph in Figure 4.