Supplementary Fig. 1. Correlation between replicates. For each tissue and sex, normalized intensity values of replicate hybridizations were plotted against each other and the corresponding Pearson’s correlation co-efficient calculated. All treatments display high correlation, indicating low variation between replicates and excellent reproducibility.