Figure: Graph showing the relationship between heterozygosity and short read coverage along the window position of a scaffold. The x-axis represents the window position along the scaffold, while the y-axis represents the logarithm of the average coverage per window. Two lines are plotted: one for heterozygosity (red) and one for short read coverage (teal).