The figure shows the left carotid artery flow (ml/min) over time (min) for two不同的 CPR methods: Manual CPR and LUCAS-CPR. The flow rates are compared at various time intervals, with significant differences indicated by "p<0.05" and statistical insignificance indicated by "ns." The graph visually represents the flow data, highlighting the effectiveness of each CPR method over the specified time period.