Drug treatment with ADs is effective and sufficient in most cases. Psychotherapy may be replaced by psychotherapy, e.g. cognitive therapy, if the patient is prepared. Psychotherapy is needed as a complement to drug treatment in most cases. Drug treatment with ADs is effective and sufficient in most cases.