Survival probability vs. time for different treatment regimens. The graph shows the survival probability over time (months) for two groups: d4T-based regimen (solid line) and Other regimen (dotted line). The log rank test yields a p-value of 0.098, indicating a statistically significant difference in survival probability between the two regimens.