The graph shows a comparison of initial and final haemoglobin levels. The box plots indicate that there is a statistically significant difference between initial and final haemoglobin levels, with a p-value of 0.02. The horizontal axis represents haemoglobin levels, and the vertical axis shows the plasma concentration (g/dl).