Number of substitution sites vs Minimum number of strains

Common substitution sites

- The graph shows the relationship between the number of substitution sites and the minimum number of strains.
- As the minimum number of strains increases, the number of substitution sites decreases.
- The line starting at the point (1, 350) and decreasing sharply, indicating a rapid decrease in substitution sites with an increase in strain number.