The mean tacrolimus dose differed across the treatment groups throughout the study being generally highest in the high level FK778 group and lowest in the MMF group. In all treatment groups tacrolimus doses were highest during the first 3 to 4 weeks of the study and then gradually declined throughout the study.