Emergence of Maternal Health as a Political Priority

- India’s aspiration of global leadership
- International influence
- Political transition
- Maternal health becoming a ‘hot’ topic

Supportive policy environment and launch of the National Rural Health Mission
- Availability of effective policy solutions

Civil society’s positioning of maternal mortality as a human rights violation
- Increasing media coverage

Emerging evidence of the high magnitude of the problem

Problem Stream

Policy Stream