context: urban setting
allows for easy
communication between members

exchange between peer educators and
health professionals

better knowledge
about network
partner’s capacities

identification of
lacunae in offer

better counselling of clients

DRS involved

conditions: DRS willing to take up stewardship role and NGOs accept this stewardship role of the DRS

improved coordination

improved continuity of care

better referrals

improved access to and utilisation of
ASRH services

intermediate outcome

organisational learning

exchange of information, expertise and resources

increased organisational effectiveness

Distant outcome

improved reproductive health status of youth

why do actors network:
clear benefit (perceived individual and organisational learning) and perception of being able to act shared vision

on ASRH

context: little competition between ASRH providers stimulates exchange of critical information