The chart displays the years of life lost due to communicable and non-communicable diseases across different economic categories for the year 2002. The categories include Residual, Emerging, Informal, Post-Communist, Less Successful Informal, and Insecure. Each category is represented by a box plot showing the distribution of years of life lost (%). The blue boxes indicate years of life lost to communicable diseases, while the red boxes show years of life lost to non-communicable diseases.