Scene One
A woman and her partner arrive at a health clinic. The woman is not obviously pregnant, though there are some women in the later stages of pregnancy sitting in the waiting room. She approaches the counter and you see her talk to the receptionist.

Scene Two
The same woman and her partner are in a clinic room with an obstetrician. The obstetrician hands to the woman an ultrasound picture that she has been looking at. The obstetrician says, “So you are doing really well, everything is looking very good. Is there anything else you would like to ask?” The woman says, “And how about alcohol? I’ve heard different things.” The obstetrician says, “I recommend that you don’t drink any alcohol during pregnancy. Alcohol can disturb the development of the fetus which could lead to problems later on.” The woman asks, “Is a couple of glasses of wine every now and then OK?” The obstetrician says, “We just don’t know how much alcohol it takes to do damage. It is different for different women and different babies. No amount has been proven as safe. That is why I say no alcohol is the safest choice.”

A final message is displayed on the screen: No alcohol during pregnancy is the safest choice.
