High stress symptoms, High depression symptoms, and High stress and depression symptoms were compared between the male and female treatment and control groups. The diagram shows the proportion (%) of each symptom for each group. The significance levels indicated by * and ¥ are not specified in the text.