No testing required as the disease probability is below the testing threshold.

The probability is between test and treatment thresholds and therefore further testing is required.

Testing is complete and treatment begins; because disease probability is above treatment threshold.