Fig 4

The graph shows the number of chimeras (vertical axis) plotted against the number of complementary base pairs (horizontal axis). The data is represented by a bar chart, with the number of chimeras increasing for 2 to 8 base pairs, with a peak at 5 base pairs. The number of chimeras decreases significantly for 9 to 21 base pairs, with a sharp drop after 8 base pairs.