Figure S2. Fractions of IDPs with contiguous ID regions longer than the specified length in different subcellular localizations. The length distribution of ID regions as in Figure 3, but human proteins in different subcellular localizations, is presented. The abscissa indicates ID regions longer than the specified number of residues.