- Acknowledge the uniqueness of the disease
- Be as honest and forthright as possible
- When discussing treatment, ask patients what they value
- Discuss the risks of surgery openly and plainly
- Ask patients if they’d like to speak to someone regarding their spiritual or religious beliefs, if present
- Arrange a social work consultation if patients are having difficulty coping
- Screen for the warning signs of depression