1. Subject-matter experts specify the nature of increasing competencies on the variable

2. Items are written to tap into the various described competencies

3. Items are compiled into a test form such that there is comprehensive coverage of the variable

4. Item response data is scaled and a hierarchy of competencies is empirically derived and fit is evaluated

5. The a priori and empirical hierarchies of competencies are compared for agreement