To test your blood pressure, a rubber cuff is wrapped around your upper arm and then inflated to measure your blood pressure.