The boxplot shows the distribution of log(cyfra) across different disease stages. Each box represents the interquartile range (IQR) of log(cyfra) values, with the central line indicating the median. The whiskers extend to show the range of the data except for outliers, which are indicated by individual points. The disease stages are labeled from 1 to 4 on the x-axis.