Patient delay estimates are influenced by the way people establish the relation between bodily sensations, symptoms and cancer diagnosis.