Example 1. A hand drawn Cambodian village map that was provided to interviewers and used to identify outlets.

Example 2. A preexisting map from Madagascar that was used by supervisors during the initial mapping stage to help determine outlet locations from key informants.