The graph shows the prevalence of infection, multiplicity of infection, mean geometric density (parasites/µl), and prevalence of submicroscopic infections across different age groups. The x-axis represents age in years, while the y-axis represents prevalence of infection, multiplicity of infection, and mean geometric density. The graph includes multiple lines to represent different parameters, each with a distinct line style and color.