Figure 4: Graphical user interface of the instrument in the PC environment, which allows the user to observe the characteristics of the patient and the exam (A), a quantitative off-line analysis of the tremor signal (B), and a return of medical recommendations for the patient (C).