Figure 1. Front (A) and side (B) view of the explant culturing models of cancellous bone from the rabbit femoral head. These samples were 8 mm in diameter and 3 mm in thickness. The dynamic loading and circulating-perfusion bioreactor under working condition is shown in (C), and the chamber of the dynamic load and circulating-perfusion bioreactor system is presented in (D).