Most students who enroll in medical school graduate; therefore the number of graduates taking the national examination every year is approximately equal to the medical student quota that was in place six years earlier.

!Diagram

Figure 5