1. Engage health officials and sensitize the community to maternal and perinatal health issues

2. Community reports all deaths of girls and women of childbearing age

3. Interview all families with a maternal death

4. Analyze and interpret the data

5. Share and interpret the data with the community and take action

6. Monitor and revise interventions as needed

Identify and investigate maternal deaths on an ongoing basis

Increase awareness among family and community

Identify underlying factors and ways to prevent these deaths

Investigate biological and social causes of the deaths

Develop targeted, community-driven, high impact local interventions