Fig. 3. Schematic representation of the magnetically driven transport of drugs to a specific region. A catheter is inserted into an arterial feed to the tumor and a magnetic stand is positioned over the targeted site.