The graph shows the relationship between speed (m/s) and delay (Sec) for two different methods: LAP and PNLP. The data points indicate a slight increase in delay with increasing speed for both methods, with LAP generally having a higher delay than PNLP at all speeds shown.