Figure 5: Foreground and background colors in the color model. Since the background has a larger diversity, the foreground colors are partly included in the set of background colors (arrows mark examples of such colors).