G-CSF regulates production and increases proliferation, which accelerates maturation and increases release. It induces acute cell loss and regulates cell flux and cytokine flux. G-CSF also regulates the proliferative fraction and self-renewal probability of stem cells.