The diagram shows the change in total energy (kcal/day) from baseline to Δ for three groups: EXFS, EX, and CON. The x-axis represents the baseline and Δ, while the y-axis represents the total energy in kcal/day. The lines indicate the deviation from the baseline energy level for each participant in the study.