Fig. 4. Diagrammatic reconstruction of the brain after an essentially complete lesion of the peristriate cortex. Representative cross sections are shown by number indicating placement on brain diagram. The monkey from whom this brain was taken retained a visual discrimination habit perfectly.