Differences in power (capacity)

- through rules and procedures that bring out the differences in capacity
- through vulnerability and designation of discretionary powers to another

Trust

Experiences (positive or potentially exploitative)

- through gaining of capacity that can be used for one’s own gains or to potentially exploit others

Through rules and procedures that bring out the differences in capacity, trust is built or eroded, influencing experiences that can be positive or exploitative.