Implementation Theory

Capacity: derived from middle-range theories of social structures, resources, and mobilization

Contribution: derived from middle-range Normalization Process Theory

Potential: derived from middle-range theories of individual and collective readiness

Higher level theories of Structure and Action

Higher level theories of Socio-technical Change

Capability: derived from formal grounded theory of normalization processes

Higher level Agentic Perspectives in Social Cognitive Psychology