Collect paired-end ditags from three CLL genomes

Identify the ditags detected in all three CLL genomes

Map common ditags to multiple human genome sequences

Identify unmapped ditags

Generate full-length sequences represented by the unmapped ditags

Map full-length sequences to reference human genomes to determine the type of genomic aberrations