Figure 2: Translational medicine is a growing and merging area to integrate basic, social, clinic and political sciences together to efficiently improve patient care and outcomes. We should have a general idea of the current situation, developing trend and new collaboration models of translational medicine thus we can find a right way to promote translational program.