Sprouting lymphatic tip cell migrates towards growth factors. Secreted lymphangiogenic growth factors from the tumour stimulate tubulogenesis and maturation. Proliferating stalk cells form the new lymphatic vessels. Inflammatory cells contribute to the process. Changes in vessel dilation occur. Leakage or collection of fluid and cells is observed. Lymphatic vessel growth and remodeling are critical in the process.