The graph shows the removal efficiency (%) over time (min) at different rotation speeds (rpm). The curves indicate that higher rotation speeds (50, 150, 250, 350 rpm) result in faster removal efficiency, with the highest efficiency achieved at 350 rpm.